

Pleating by Mail with Amberlane & Amberpetites

If you like to smock but don't own a pleater and would rather not pick up dots, you can now take advantage of Amberlane's "Pleating by Mail".

Fill in the order form with clear instructions as to what you want pleated and where.

Print off the order form with your credit card information (for payment for the pleating and the return shipping) along with your mailing address. Pack up your fabric and the form.

Your pleated fabric will be returned as quickly as possible by surface post.

Terms and Conditions:

If at all possible, prewash and press your fabric. Remove selvages. If you are cutting out a pattern piece please do not use pinking shears!

Tell me what you are making – a bishop, a yoked garment or an insert (or other – a sketch would be helpful or a photocopy of the pattern front). The Brand and the Name of the pattern you are making, e.g. Jilly Bean's "Hope", can be helpful to me when faced with something unfamiliar.

For a yoked garment, pencil in the armhole curve. Do not cut out armhole curves.

For a bishop, if you are going to do plain seams, they should be pressed open.

If you are going to do French seams, they can be no wider than 1/8th inch and should be stitched from the neck down to where the under arm curve starts.

If you want me to do the French seams to the armhole curve so the garment can be pleated, include a fee of $2.00/seam. (E.g. $8.00 for four seams which is a normal bishop).

Please note your seam allowance at the neckline (or the top edge of a skirt where it attaches to the yoke) and how many rows you want. It is strongly suggested that you allow for one row inside the seam allowance and one row extra at the other end to act as a control rows. For example, if your seam allowance is 1/2" and your design plate requires 8 rows of gathering threads, the first row will be at 3/8" and I would pleat a total of 10 rows. But you must specify how many rows you want.

Label your garment pieces with their name on the right side of the fabric so there is no question about which side is up or what I am pleating.

If you want the sleeves pleated, please mark where you want the pleating located and if you want single or double spaced rows.

Package your fabric in a padded envelope that can be reused for the return shipping if possible.

Most parcels are automatically insured for $100.00 but check at your P.O.

Please include a label for the return shipping. It is strongly suggested that you ship your fabric so the parcel has a tracking number. As good as the postal service is, sometimes parcels go astray and having a tracking number is helpful. But the choice is yours.

I will contact you by e/mail to let you know your parcel is on its way!!

Please include your e-mail and phone number in case I have a question about your instructions.

Pleating Fees:

$0.60/row/piece for straight fabric such as skirts for yoke garments, straight sleeve cuffs.

$1.00/row for Bishop necklines or other seamed pieces.

$2.00/seam for stitching partial French Seams to allow for pleating.
